

Buildings Magazine Announces 2005 Innovations Awards Winners

Highlight on Solutions-Oriented Products

(Chicago, IL) – At the June 13-15 NeoCon® World's Trade Fair, Buildings magazine announced the winners of its 2005 Innovations Awards, a competition that recognizes solutions-oriented products in eight categories.

Over 400 competing companies exhibited at NeoCon, the leading contract furnishings and finishes event in North America. The Innovations Awards are now in their 10th year of existence.

“Unlike most product competitions, the products submitted in the Innovations Awards are judged on their abilities to solve particular facilities problems,” said Linda Monroe, editorial director of Buildings. “As such, each category receives submissions that represent a broad array of products, ranging from carpet to furniture to software solutions.”

Buildings selects semi-finalists in each category prior to NeoCon, based on application materials that feature a specific product. The Buildings editorial staff then makes on-site visits to each of these companies during NeoCon and selects a Grand Prize Winner in each category.
